DETAILED ACTION

The cancellation of claims 12-13 and 15-18 is noted.

Claims 1-11 and 14 are under examination.

Applicants amend claims by including the definition of the grafting material (c).

Response to Arguments

The rejection of claims 1-18 under 35 U.S.C. 103 over Yamamoto et al U.S. Patent 5,187,229 mailed on 04/04/2003 is withdrawn in light of the amendment of January 22, 2004 and April 18, 2005. (The amendment of April 18, 2005 is the same as of January 22, 2004).

The argument that Yamamoto does not disclose the reaction of cyclocarbonate functional acrylics with a primary amine or a secondary amine is persuasive.

The new search has been made in light of the amendment of January 22, 2004 and repeated on April 18, 2005.

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422

Art Unit: 1711

F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-11 and 14 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-30 of U.S. Patent No. 6,812,300.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 1-30 of Patent 6,812,300 discloses a method of making a hydroxyl functional urethanized grafting moiety wherein a backbone polymer can be selected as acrylics or modified acrylics (polymer P) having two or more cyclic carbonate groups (bi) reactive with at least one grafting material (c) comprising at least one amine group (ci) selected from primary amines, secondary amines, and a grafting moiety (cii), claims 1, 9 and claim 20 of Patent 6,812,300. The ethylenically unsaturated monomer having at least one cyclic carbonate group and having the structure in claim 30 of Patent 6,812,300 is readable in the present claim 1. The grafting moiety (cii) such as polyurethane oligomers or polymers, triazines or hindered amine light stabilizers, claim 16 of patent 6,812,300 are readable in the present claim 1.

3. The difference is that a polymer backbone P in claims 1 and 9 of Patent 6,812,300 includes a variety of a hydrocarbon based material.

Art Unit: 1711

4. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select a modified acrylic polymer=P in claim 9 of patent 6,812,300 that is an acrylic backbone polymer (b), that is supported in claims 20 of patent 6,812,300, and, thereby obtain the claimed requirement, because any hydrocarbon based material in the claim 1 of Patent 6,812,300 works within the same expectation of being a backbone polymer having two or more cyclic carbonate groups.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. References have been considered.

In light of the new rejection, this action is not final.
